

FREE
CPD: 5 points

FREE MASTER CLASS IN HERBAL MEDICINE 3

- 1 Treatment of miscellaneous diseases by purging
- 2 Clinical application of Wen Bing in the treatment of viral infectious diseases

The University of Technology Sydney (UTS) is conducting a series of Master classes with highly experienced practitioners within the Sydney Chinese community. We are hoping to attract 3rd and final year UTS students, as well as graduates and practitioners in their early career with exciting and empirical protocols using Chinese herbal medicine to address commonly seen diseases in the Australian clinical situation. The workshop will focus on practical experiences to enable you to apply herbal medicine effectively to your own patients, so you are welcome to bring your patient, cases and questions to the seminar.

3RD JUNE 2018 (SUNDAY) 10AM – 4PM (LUNCH 1PM - 2PM)

Venue: building 1, level 4, room 006 University of Technology Sydney (UTS)
In the Tower building (building 1), at entrance level on Broadway

YOUR PRESENTER: DR. ROSE CHEN (TCM) 陈曙仪 医师

Dr. Rose Chen (TCM) graduated from the Guangzhou University of Traditional Chinese Medicine, and subsequently obtained a Master of Traditional Chinese Medicine from the University of Technology Sydney. She has significant experience in internal medicine, gynecology, pediatrics, and miscellaneous diseases, and has been a specially invited guest to the SBS radio program since 1995. Rose Chen continues to be an invited guest on the 2CR radio program “Antique TCM formula, and TCM practice, Thursday 7-8pm” (2003 to current).

REGISTRATION

Please ensure your registration by email to Weihong Li (Weihong.li-1@uts.edu.au) prior to the seminar.